ORDER ON AUDIO OF VOIR DIRE

During oral argument, the Court asked counsel whether they recalled how the Magistrate Judge pronounced Steve Koenig's last name when she read the name on the witness list; that is, whether she pronounced the name the way it reads, "Co-nig", or the way Mr. Koenig pronounces it, "Kane-nig". No one could recall. Following the hearing, the Court asked the court reporter whether the audio for the voir dire exists and the court reporter confirmed that it does. The Court listened to the audio of this portion of the voir dire and the Court heard the Magistrate Judge read the name "Koenig" as "Co-nig", not "Kane-nig".

The Court ORDERS counsel within seven days from the date of this Order to make arrangements to listen to the audio and to object, if necessary, to the Court's conclusion. If counsel do not object within seven days of the date of this Order, the Court will consider this pronunciation difference in issuing its Order on the pending motion for new trial.

SO ORDERED.
